

PHYSICAL OR HEALTH-RELATED DISABILITY

Documentation Requirements Needed for a Physical or Health-Related Disability

A student with a physical or health-related disability must provide documentation to support a request for an accommodation or to help determine appropriate accommodations.

At minimum, the following information must be included:

- A written report from an appropriate professional (i.e., medical doctor, physical and occupational therapist, etc.)
- Identification of the disabling condition
- Current information about the functional limitations caused by the disability in a college environment
- Recommendations of appropriate accommodations, including housing accommodations
