SOCIAL WORK AT CABRINI

Turn your passion into your profession with Cabrini's Social Work major. When it comes time to graduate, you will be prepared for professional social work practice or to successfully undertake graduate school.

Through classroom learning, field instruction, and direct engagement to end social and economic injustice, you will gain skills needed for a career in a variety of fields, such as working for family and children's services agencies, advocacy groups, or health care organizations.

A mentoring program connects first-year students and sophomores majoring in Social Work with upperclass students for support, information, and involvement in the department and the Cabrini community.

The program ensures individualized student support including academic advising, field placement matching, and professional mentoring. Field practicum placements include Public Elementary Schools, Domestic Violence Services, Senior Centers, Homeless Shelters, Addiction Services, and more.

NEW! CERTIFICATE IN TRAUMA AND TRAUMA-INFORMED CARE

In collaboration with the Jordan Center, this 12-credit program reflects cutting-edge, best practices in Social Work education for students interested in integrating a trauma-informed approach into their professional development. Graduates will be prepared to address the demand for trauma-informed responses across a wide range of industries and sectors, both public and private.
